

My experience with Chrisal probiotic spray was amazing! We had used it couple times on the horses with some minor skin issues and it appeared to be working well BUT when our beautiful pet lamb Dharma was attacked by a domestic dog on June 25, 2014, she sustained major injuries. There were several punctures around her throat and on her face. Truthfully, her injuries were so bad we thought we were going to lose her. We took her to the Vet and she stitched her up in 5 places and sent her home with injectable antibiotics and a topical spray, the wounds were not healing very well. We started using the Chrisal spray and stopped using the spray from her Vet. Within 2 or 3 days the difference was unreal, the punctures started to close and looked fantastic. We continued to use the spray for a couple weeks and her wounds healed perfectly. Lastly, with a more common problem I used the Spray on my Golden's hot spot and the results again were amazing.
